

EMERGING CHURCHES

with Ryan Bolger and Karen Ward

The last few years have seen the emergence of creative new forms of church in mission with a buzz around emerging church, mission shaped church and fresh expressions. This movement is young, fragile and exciting. Emerging Churches will give a window into this movement with a mix of teaching, storytelling, inspiration and discussion.

We are delighted that Ryan Bolger, author of Emerging Churches: Creating Christian community in postmodern cultures (described by Andrew Jones as the best book yet on the emerging church) will be joining us to present the result of 5 years research into what is happening in emerging churches in the UK and USA. The day will include stories from leaders of emerging churches in the UK and the USA. We are excited that Karen Ward (leader of COTA, a postmodern monastic community in Seattle) is coming over especially to take part and will be joined by UK practitioners.
